Death of Admiral Porter.

Admiral David D. Porter, who has been in failing health for some years, died suddenly at 8:15 o'clock Friday morning, at his residence in Washington, of futty degeneration of the heart.

David Dixon Porter was born in Phila-delphia, June 8, 1814. He entered the service as a midshipman in February, 1829, and served in the Mediterranean until 1835, when he was employed for several years in the coast survey and river exploration, being made a lieutenant in 1841. In 1845 he was placed on special duty at the observatory at Washington, resigning in 1846 to take part in the Mexican war, serving at Vera Cruz and other places. At the close of this war he entered on the command of the California line of mail steamers. He afterwards returned to the regular navy, and at the outbreak of the civil war, in 1861, he was promoted to the rank of commander. His first service in this struggle was the relief of Fort Pickens, in Pensacola harbor. In 1862 he was in command of the flotida of mortar boats operating against New Cricans and the adjacent forts. He was next engaged in the unsuccessful attack on Vicksburg, July, 1862. In January, 1863, he captured Arkansas Post, and in April destroyed the Grand Guif batteries. At this time he was made rear admiral, and had command of all the naval forces on the Mississippi river. the second slege of Vicksburg, resulting in the capture of that city, his efficient and hearty co-operation with the land forces under Gen. Grant were repeatedly noticed and eulogized in the reports of that general. After the fall of Vicksburg he assisted Banks in his Red river expedition, in 1864. The same year saw him transferred to the James river in Virginia, and he was employed in the two attacks on Fort Fisher, which commands the appreaches to Wilmington, North Carolina. In the second attack on the fort Porter was successful. He also took part in several other important expeditions and at the close of the war he was made vice admiral. In 1866 he became superintendent of the naval academy at Annapolis, Md., and in 1870, on the death of Admiral Farragut, he became admiral (commanderin-chief) of the navy, which position he held up to the time of his death. Mr. Porter wrote several books on naval engagements and a few on fiction,

The president has sent the following message to congress:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: The death of William Tecumseh She. man, which took place today at his residence in the City of New York, at I o'clocu and fifty minutes p. m., is an event that will bring sorrow to the heart of every upon his face, to hear his name was to have one's love of country intensified. He served his country, not for fame, not out of a sense of professional duty, but for love of the flag and of the benificent civil institutions of which it was the emblem.

He was an ideal soldier and shared to the fullest the espirit du corps of the army, but he cherished the civil institutions organized under the Constitution, and was only a soldier that these might be perpetuated in undiminished usefulness and honor. He was in nothing an imitator. A profound student of military science and precedent, he drew from them principles and suggestions and so adapted them to novel conditions that his campaigns will continue to be the profitable study of the military profession throughout the world. MOURNING IN MICHIGAN. The following proclamation has been dichigan. Two of the heroes of the war for the nion have just passed away-Gen. Wiliam Tecumseh Sherman, the hero of the 'March to the Sea," and Adm ral David D. Porter, one of the great naval comnanders of the war. Both were true varriors and patriots, strong and brave in heir country's defense. The nation hongood them living and mourns them dead. t is fitting that the state should especially nonor their memories and proclaim the praise which is due to their high character and patrictic service; therefore, it is hereby ordered that the flags on the public culldings of the state be placed at halfnast until after the funerals, and that or he day of Gen. Sherman's burial the exe cutive office and the departments of state

A London, Eng., disputch, under . the ate of Feb. 16, says:-At an early hour Friday morning the body of a young woman was discovered in a secluded locality in Chambers street. She had been hor-ribly gashed with a sharp instrument. Nothing is yet known as to who she is or who her murderer was. The woman's head had been severed almost entirely from the body, and it was a ghastly spectacle that met those who viewed the remains. Detectives quickly began a search for the murderer. The poor creature had evidently been decoyed to the place of her death in the same way that the other victims of "Jack the Ripper" had been, but the officers have not traced the murderer. Hotels, boarding places and public house of all descriptions have been vainly search ed. That Jack the Ripper is the marderes

EXCITEMENT IN ROCHESTER.

The Commotion Caused by the Statement of a Physician.

An unusual article from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat and Chronicle, was recent-ly republished in this paper and was a sub-ject of much comment. That the article caused even more commotion in Eo hester the following from the same paper shows: Dr. J. B. Henion, who is well-known not only in Rochester but in nearly every part of America, sent an extended article to this paper, a few days since which was duly published, detailing his remarkable exper-ience and rescue from what seemed to be certain death. It would be impossible to enumerate the personal enguiries which have been made at our office as to the va-lidity of the article, but they have been so numerous that further investigation of the subject was deemed necessary.

With this end in view a representative of of this pap'r called on Dr. Henion, at his residence, when the following interciew oc-curred: 'That article of yours, Docter, has created quite a whirlwind. Are the state-ones. I was brought so low by neglecting the first and most simple symptoms. Id.d. not think I was si k. It is true I had fre-brigadier-general and succeeded Gen. Anderson, in command of the department of Ohio, but was removed for declaring it would take 20,000 men to hold Kentucky.

We should not waste our time trying to relieve the head-ache, pain about the body or other symp-tons but go directly to the kidneys, the sour e of most of these aliments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths which occur arise from bright's disease, is it Doctor?"

"Precisely. Thousands of di cases are tortoring people to day, which in reality are Bright's disea e in some of its many forms. It is a H d a headed menter and the slightest symptoms should strike terror to every one who has them. I can look back and recall hundreds of deaths which physic ans de lared at the time were caused by paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease pneumonia, malarial fever and other common complaints which I see now were caused by Bright's disease."

"And did all these cases have simple symp ome at first?"

"Every one of them, and might have been cured as I was by the timely use of the s me remedy. I am getting my eyes thoroughly opened in this matter and think I am helping others to see the facts and their possible danger also."
Mr. Warner who was visited at his establishment on N. St. Paul street, spoke very earne-tly: "It is true that Bright's disease had inwill bring sorrow to the heart of every creased wonderfully, and we find, by repatriotic citizen. No living American was liable statistics, that from '79 to '89 its growth was over 250 per cent. Look at the prominent men it has carried off, and is taking off every year, for while many are dying apparent y of paralysis and apo-piexy, they are really victims of kidney disorder, which causes heart disease, pa-ralysis, apoplexy, etc. Nearly every week the papers record the dea h of some promi-nent man from this scourge. Recently, however, the increase has been checked and I attribute this to the general use of my remedy. "Po you think many people are afflicted with it to day who do not realize it, Mr. Warner '" "A prominent professor in a New Orleans medical college was lecturing before his class on the sub ect of Bright's disease. He had various fluids under meros opic analysis and was showing the students what the indications of this terrible mainly were. 'And now, gentlemen,' he said, 'as we have seen the unbeathy indications, I will show you how it appears in a state of perfect health, and he sulmitted his own fluid to the usual test. As he watched the results his countenance suddenly changed — his color and command both left him and in a trembling voice he sa d:

"You know of Dr. Henlon's case?"
"Yes, I have be h read and heard of it."

"It is very woncerful is it not?"
"No more than a great many others that "You believe then that Bright's disease can be cured." "I know it can. I know it from my own and the experience of thousands of prominent persons who were given up to die by both their physicians and friends,"

"You speak of your own experience, what "A fearful one. I had felt languid and saued by the governor of the state of unfitted for bus ness for years. but I did When, however, not know what alled me. I found it was kidney difficulty I thoughs there was little hope and so did the doctors. I have since learned that one of the physiclans of this city pointed me out to a gentleman on the street one day, saving: there goes a man who will be dead wishin a year. believe his words would have proved true if I had not fortunately used the remedy now known as Warner's Safe Cure."

"Did you make a chemical analysis of the case of Mr. H. H. Warner some three years ago. Doctor? was asked Dr. S. A. Lattimore, one of the analysts of the State Board of Health.'

"A serious disease of the kidneys. "Did you think Mr. Warner could recover?" 'No. sir. I did not think it possible." "Do you know anything about the remedy which cured him?"

What did this analysis show you?"

"I have chemically analyzed it and find it pure and harmless."

The standing of Dr. Henlon, Mr. Warner and Dr. Lattimore in the community is beyond question, and the statements they make comport for a moment be doubted. Dr. Henion's experience shows that Bright's disea e of the kidneys is one of the most deceptive and dangerous of all disc
